the discharge of his duties.

Secretary of the treasury to-day ordered the removal of Special Agent S. E. Chamberlin. One of the reasons alleged for his removal being that he was born in Vermont, was appointed from Virginia, and voted in Maryland.

He has always been a working democrat, and was a delegate to the democratic national convention of last year, and supported the democratic ticket strongly in his newspaper during the late presidential campaign. He applied for a third-class mission, and was indorsed by the North Carolina delegation.

HARRIS AND BAYARD.

The Question of Their Personal Hostility

MEMPHIS, May 1.—The Appeal to-day pub-lishes an interview with United States Senator lishes an interview with United States Senator Isham G. Harris, in reference to the recent publication made in the New York World regarding an issue between Senator Harris and Mr. Bayard, which was said to exist during the session of the forty-sixth congress and after the resignation of Senators Conkling and Platt. Senator Harris says:

"I was approached by a number of senators, both democratic and republican, with the proposition to elect me president pro tempore of the senate. When approached by democratic senators on the subject, I inquired if Mr. Rayard, then the senior democratic senator, had been consulted on the subject, saying craic senators on the subject, I inquired if Mr. Bayard, then the senior democratic senator, had been consulted on the subject, saying he was the senior on our side of the chamber, and must be consulted before any action was taken. No senator being able to answer that he had been consulted I said I would talk to him myself on the subject. Soon thereafter, I invited Mr. Bayard into the cloak room and stated the case to him. After making several suggestions which he thought worthy of consideration, he said to me: "I will think of it," since which time the subject has never been mentioned between us, and from that time to the end of that congress I refused to entertain any proposition looking to my election to that position, and the congress adjourned without the election of a president pro tempore. If there were negotiations at any time pending between republican and democratic senstors looking to giving the democrats the position of president pro. tem. and the republicans control of the committees, as alleged by the correspondant of the World, I certainly never heard of such negotiations and was never approached by any senstor or other person upon the subject, and the statement that I had been approached and consented to such arrangement is wholly unfounded."

GENERAL GRANT AT WORK. Dictating Matter to Bis Stenographer for

His Work. New York, May 1 .- General Grant has passed a very quiet night, and Colonel Grant sat up with him until three o'clock this morning. To day the general has been dictating a stenographer matter for his book.

THE GENERAL STILL IMPROVES. "The general still improves, is all I can say lo-night," said Colonel Fred Grant, this evening. He dictated for an hour and a half today, and will finish up the Appomattox campaign to-morrow. He begins now to feel confident himself that he will recover. He had a number of resolutions and epistles read to him to-day, which have been lately sent, and felt very much gratified over one in particular from Roanoke, Va., from a mass meeting of its citizens. The pain in his throat is very slight. slight, and only at intervals and does not now affect his speech or swallowing. The second volume of his book will be in the hands of the publishers as soon as all the maps are furnished which will be in a short time. Dr. Douglas called at 10 o'clock but not to stay.

He has been saving the morphine pills given him from time to time to induce sleep. While very sick and expecting to die, Meyer confessed to shooting Krause, but said he did not do it for money, but because they had quarreled and he got mad. He said Krause first knocked him down and then stabbed him with a knite, whereupon he (Meyer) shot him twice, cut a hole in the ice and sank the body.

A Mausoleum of Brains.

Washington, May 1.—"It would be a blessing to more than one man to be turned out of the civil service," said a member of the treasury inquiry commission to-day. There are decens of young men here who have an excellent education and bright intellects who entered the government cervice after leaving college, intending to stay but a few months—a year at the most. They got in and have staid, and it is probable that they will be buried here for the rest of their days. Then again there are others who accepted clerkships in order that they might be able to support themselves while attending lectures at the law or medical schools. This class fully intended to strike out for itself the day the diplomas were distributed, but the certainty of a small salary has kept them here, and they, too, are likely to die in the harness. The departmental service is the mansoleum of brains. Men who enter seem unable to leave, and hundreds of bright young fellows are lost to the world heeguse of a clerkshing at $1200 a and hundreds of bright young fellows are lost to the world because of a clerkship at $1,200 a

UNDRESSED THE PUPILS. Remarkable Efforts in a School Room to Find Some Lost Money.

Greensutes, N. Y., May 1.—One of the scholars in the public school asserted that some money had been stolen from his pocket. Mr. Jolly, the principal, told the students that other valuables also had been stolen, and if there was a thief smong the students it was high time to discover his identity. Mr. Jolly then left the school and soon returned with Justice Slade and a policeman. The justice took several of the children, one by one, into a side room and tried in vain to find out who had the money. He then advised that the children be searched. He directed two of the female teachers to search the girls. The boys were taken into another room and Policeman English searched them. The search was so very thorough that nearly all the wearing apparel both of the girls and boys, was removed. The lost money, however, was not found.

These proceedings have aroused a storm of Indignation. One man tried to induce others to join him in presenting Principal Jolly with a coat of tar and feathers. Others say they will take legal proceedings against Mr. Jolly and Justice Slade.

The Probability that the King of Denmark May be Called Upon to Act as the Father-in-Law of the Two Countries - Dellying for Terms of Peace-Other Foreign News.

LONDON, May 1 .- There is a distinct lull in the war excitement pending the receipt of Russia's reply to Earl Granville's dispatch. Sensational rumors are current of a Russian advance toward Herat, but because of the denial of the Russian advance to Meruchak no credence is given to the rumors. Meanwhile England's preparations for war continue unchecked. The admiralty are busy inspecting the various vessels with a view to chartering or purchasing them.

The Standard expresses the greatest dissatisfaction at the proposal of arbitration by a crowned head, and asks who will be able to be an impartial judge, and how will he get at the facts? Will Komaroff and Lumsden be placed in the witness box? The Standard concludes that any such settlement, even if accepted by Russia, would only shelve the matter for a short time.

About two o'clock this morning Jackson took a very sudden change for the worse. His pulse went to pieces and he began to wander. RONEY REFUSES

TO INTERFERE WITH THE LAW IN THE ROBERTS CASE.

A Husband Sning a Wife for the Custody of Seven Children- Newspaper Consolidation in Jaines-ville- An Athens Invention-News from All Parts of the State, Etc.

Augusta, Ga., May 1.—[Special.]—Judge H. C. Boney to day delivered an able, lengthy opinion in the habeas corpus case of W. S. Roberts, president of the Bank of Augusta, and charged with grand larceny in New York in converting to his own use bonds belonging to the Bethlehem fron works of Pennsylvania. On this charge Governor Hill's requisition was issued, and was honored by Governor McDaniel. Mr. Roberts' arrest and lengthy habeas corpus proceedings followed, in which the entire record was reviewed, and the argument made for the prisoner by Judge Twiggs, James C. C. Black, Messrs. Hook & Montgomery. Against this array of counsel Solicitor-General Boykin Wright contended with wonderful ability and power, and Judge Roney's decision sustained all his positions and the action and warrant of Governor McDaniel. The following is his decision. Judge Roney signed the following order:

In re-William S. Roberts, habeas corpusAlter hearing the return of the respondent Philip Reilly, in the above stand case, and argument thereon, it is ordered that the writ of habeas corpus be and the same is CLAIMED BY A MARSHAL. A sensational development followed imme-diately the rendering of the court's decision. The New York agent, Mr. Reilly, was approached by Deputy United States Sheriff Harry Palmer, who notified him that another writ of habeas corpus had been sued out before Judge Emory Speer and made returnable before Judge Speer in the United States court in Savannah to morrow morning. He served Reilly with the order produce the body of Roberts Savannah to-morrow. Reilly stated to THE CONSTITUTION reporter that he expected would amount to only a day or so further delay.

Roberts to resort to the United States authorities after the state courts failed him, and thought it This writ was procured by telegraph yesterday, to be served in case of expected adverse decision to day. The proceedings in Savannah will be a repe tition of those concluded here, and the decision rests with Judge Speer. Reilly and Palmer pro-ceeded to Savannah with Mr. Roberts on the ten o'clock train. The prisoner was accompanied by his son and brother. Boykin Wright and F H. Miller will appear in behalf of Reilly and the executive warrant, while Messrs. Black, Twiggs and Montgomery, and perhaps Julius Brown, for Roberts. It is said an effort is being made to get Senator Brown himself. JUDGE RONEY'S REMARKS.

Judge Roney, in his decision, said the question before him was whether Roberts was illegally restrained of his liberty. He was not called upon to pass upon the question whether the crime had been committed. The record showed that an indictment had been duly found in New York. On this indictment the governor of New York had issued a requisition, in pursuance of which the governor of Georgia had issued his executive warrant. This process was lekal and regular. It was claimed by the defense that Roberts was not a fugitive from justice, because he had not been to New York since the finding of the indictment against him, and subsequently fled from punishment, that he was not a fugitive from justice before the finding of the indictment because twice since the offense is alleged to have been committed he had been in New York and had had dealings with the Mercantile National bank. On the first position the judge ruled that the fact that he had, a short time before the finding of the indictment because the finding of the indictment become to the finding of the indictment because the constitute him a fugitive from justice. On the second position he ruled that his interpolate in New York had been with the Mercantile National way the properties of the constitute him a fugitive from justice. SAVANNAH, Ga., May 1 .- [Special.] - A few days ago W. S. Roberts, president of Bank of Augusta, was arrested on a requisition of Governor Mc-Daniel, at the request of Governor Hill, of New York, on a specific charge that he had hypotheca ted for personal use in the Mercantile National bank, New York, bonds of the Georgetown Lane's railroad, belonging to the Bethlehem Iron com-pany, Bethlehem, Pa. Mr. Roberts was brought e Judge Roney, Richmond superior court, on a writ of habeas corpus, and the case was heard for the past three days. Roberts is charged on warrant for requisition with being a fugitive from justice, and that is not a subjec . The case was argued in full be fore Judge Roney. The prisoner's counsel held that the New York courts had no jurisdiction, and the question discussed was whether the governor would revoke the warrant or not. Fearing that the chief executive might not do so, and for the reasons, legal and otherwise, Mr. Bean, counsel on the habeas corpus proceeding, came to Savannah yesterday and ap plied to Hon. Emory Speer, judge of the United States courts, for a writ of habeas corpus, to bring Mr. Roberts before the criminal court, this city and have Solicitor General Wright show caus why the prisoner is held. United States marshal, F. C. Wade, sent Deputy Harry Paimer to Augusta. armed with the necessary writ. and Roberts came to Savannah this afternoon. The examination in the case will be before Judge Speer to-morrow ing. This is an important case and attracts great interest, as much for the legal principles in ved as for the social and mercantile position held by Roberts.

Colonel John W. Rudisill, a former citizen of Fancersville, died of paralysis in Anniston, Ala, on Monday night 27th inst. He practiced law in Sancersville, until 1861 when he entered the confederate service as first lieutenant of the Washington Rifies in the first regiment of Georgia volunters. After the disbanding of this regiment, he entered the twelfth battalion of Georgia Light Artillery as major and held the position of lieutenant-colonel in this command at the time of the surrenderin 1865. At the close of the war Colonel Rudisill returned to this piace and taught school until 1869, when he took charge of Hilliard institute at Forsyth, where he continued to teach until stricken down by paralysis in July of last year. He then came to Anniston, hoping to regain his health, and lived with his son. Herald says;

The Dawsonville Journal says:
The grain prospect is by no means flattering. We have given this question the closest attention for the past few weeks and we are prepared to say that the wheat and oats in this section are not at all promising. There are exceptional patches where the grain looks well, and, indeed, a few instances of large fields where it is very fine, but as a rule it is a failure. In the first place the acreage sown in grain is very small as compared with that of last year, and even that which has been sown seems either to have been very poorly fertilized or else cut short by the cold, backward spring. One thing certain, the amount of grain produced in Terred and adjoining counties this year will fall very far short of the yield of former years. This will necessarily have the effect to make seed oats very high another season, and we now take occasion to admonish our farmars to harvest very closely when the time comes and save every possible bushelt they can. The writer has made several trips in the country recently, and as a matter of truth he cannot write encouragingly. This state of things is to be deplored, for there is no reason why our armers should not produce a successful oat crop in this county every year. It has been done, and the fact is evidence enough that all could do so if they would give this matter the proper attention at the right time.

The McDuffie Journal gives an interesting account of the cruise of the Kate Curtis down the avannah river:

Savannah river:

According to appointment this gallant little yach left the wharf in Augusta on Wednesday last, under full sail for Savannah. Crowds of people visited her while she lay at anchor in the river, and admired her completeness, beauty and finish, and wished her and her crew a happy and prosperous voyage. Our first news from the party is the following note from the Journal reporter: ON BOARD YACHT KATE CURTIS.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 26, 1885—Editor Journal: We arrived here safe and sound this morning, after a rather tedious but very pleasant trip, and found our many friends waiting to greet and welcome us. I am glad to say that the Kate Curtis has proven staunch and reliable, and her sailing qualities fully meet all our expectations. The chief incident of our trip down the river was the shooting of a large alligator by Mr. Fred Winter, the reptile measured nine feet six inches in length, and was an ugly looking customer. We secured his teeth as trophies, and have elected Mr. Winter chief gunner of the expedition. The first tramboat we passed created a swell, which caused Mr. Wilson some uneasiness. Under the impression that we were still on the Georgia railroad, he thought we had run over a cow and would be sued for one hundred dollars damages Mr. Willingham is rapidly becoming an accomplished sailor. When he returns home be will put a rudder to his ox cart and manipulate the steers by the most approved nautical terms. To morrow we will got he cecan to get the sait breeze and to try our luck fishing. SAVANNAH, Ga., April 26, 1885-Editor Journal:

DRIVING A GEORGIA STEER. A Young Man Tells What He Knows About the Business. From the Carrollton, Ga., Times.

Did you ever plows steer? Well, it may be your high privilege some day to plow one, and perhaps a little advice now would not be forgotten. In the outset, if you are not a pretty good singer, learn at once to sing. When you get ready to plow select a young four-year get ready to plow select a young lour-year-old steer, one with plenty of ambition and one that hasn't been worked in two months. Hitch him to the plow, he will start before you get hold of the handles, but that needn't trouble you, as the plow passes make a lunge for the handles, this will be apt to hasten his steer ship, and he will perhaps be going so fast by this time that you won't think to say "whoa," or to check him with the line, but will be pull-ing for life by the handles to check him; this will throw the plow point perhaps three teet above the ground. As soon as you discover the cerial attitude of your plow point give it a sudden thrust towards the center of the earth, it will be sure to strike a root, and break your plow-beam-land your head between the teer's legs, and be being free will likely galop around the field several times. I forgo to mention that you ought to commen whistling as soon as you hit up and whistle until you la between his legs. Just at the between his legs. It all depends on the rate of speed the steer has on. singing stand firm in your tracks with your hands in your pockets. Remain in this posi-tion and sing until the steer stops, in the meantime keep your mind on things above and not on things below. After the steer stops don't start as though you were going straight to him, but obliquely, whistling from the time you start until you get opposite him, then stop suddenly as though you had just discovered him, then walk around two or three times as though you didn't care about catching him.

The application itself shows in terms the bill of lading also, that the cotton was from Americus for export. To export is port flow one country to another.

It further appears from the evidence sufform Americus over the line of the Central road to the wharf, one of the termin of the first of the the wharf, one of the termin of the city of Savannah; that the cotton we unloaded from the cars of the road, an placed aboard ships to be exported, i. e., which away from this country to another contribution of the case aboard ships to be exported, i. e., which away from this country to another contribution of the case of the road company to carry the cotton to the was done in this case, and there unload for exportation by sea.

Do these facts show that it was the in Do these facts show that it was the inte the parties to the contract for shipment freight shipped should not be local freight shipped should not be local freight should be freight intended to go beyo boundaries of the state? We think they cle There can he no doubt but whe intent of the shippers was that the road the line of which the shipme could not certif the irright passed beyond the bound this stare. The fact that the road the line of which the shipme commenced terminates in this makes no difference. The contract provid the cotton was to be shipped for export; for its portation to another country, pursuance of the agreement made for that it was is fact carried by the ratiroad comithe where at the terminates in the where at the terminates of its line, a there delivered to vessels and was thence exported from the state. It seems to mo clearer case could be presented of an in by the parties that the freight in question not be local merely, but that it should, by tithuous line of transportation, part repart water, go beyond the limits of this si which line the Central railroad, from Amer the wharf in Savannah, for ned a part.

The fact that a portion of this I exportation was by rail and a par water makes no material difference so far question under consideration is concerned.

Being satisfied from the terms of the applification? The question here presented is important one, and this is, we believe, the time that the decision of the state, and that pursuance of such intention the same did go by yond the boundaries of the state, the secon question to be considered is: Has the commissioners any similar question his been evoked.

The powers granted to the commissioners are clearly secified in the fifth section of the commissioners are publication? The question here presented is important one, and this is, we believe, the time that the decision of the commissioners are publication. The question here presented is application? The question here presented is a provided in the fifth section of the state, which companie

The proviso in the concluding part of the tion observates as a limitation upon the paranted in the first part of the section. The lature here says, in effect, that the commissional have all the powers granted in the see except in the cases which are specified in the viso. The cases specified in the proviso are rates, the red by any railroad company in this for freight which comes from or goes beyon boundaries of the state and on which freight han local rates are charged." In all such the commissioners are denied the power to corates of freight, and the railroad companishe state are expressly declared to posses same power and right, to charge rates for car such freight as they possessed before the part of the act.

Now in the case before us, if the freight dered to the railroad company at Americus shipped to go beyond the boundary of the state accordance with the agreement for ship them it seems clear to us that this commission no jurisdiction whatever right the applicants have in the premises, it is quite apparent that the commissioners possess no legal pow pass upon such right. We must not assure exercise powers withheld from us by law. We press no pointon as to the merits of the case were before a tribunal having jurisdiction to upon its merits. We simply determine the have no go wer in the premises. The legish has witbheld such power from the commission, if any wrong has been done the application. Jas. M. Smith, Chairm Campellet Wallace.

This being our opinion, we must sustain objection, and refuse the application.

The Decision of the Rauroad Commission as to the Overcharge at Savannah. Application of Hitt & Co., Americus, against the central rathroad company for the refunding of The ran road commission rendered the following centar into a commission rendered the following decision yesterday:

Messie, Hitt & Co., of Americus, Ga., apply in writing to the commissioners to require the Central Radioad and Banking company of Georgia to recompense them in the sum of $321.45 over charges, collected from the applicants, for carrying a lot of rotton from Americus to Savannah, Ga. The facts set forth in the application, briefly stated, are as follows:

During the present season, beginning the 31st of September, 1884, and down to March 18, 1885, the applicants shipped from Americus to Savannah. Ga., for export, 5,643 bales of cotton on self radicad. The radiroad company, in addition to the clarge of 50 cents per 160 pounds, the alie ged regular trait charge, made in pursuance of law, that no such transfer the applicants, on salf splipment, the sum of 15 cents per bale, as a claim for transferring said cotton in the city of Savannah; that no such transfer was in fact made; and that no such transfer or which the salfroad company had any right to make such a charge, ever occurred; that said cotton was in fact carried in the cars, in which the same was hipped, and on the line of track of said railroad, to the wharf in Savannah, and there included by aid railroad company; that no similar charge was made on the Atlanta division of said Central radioad; nor upon any of its divisions except upon the Southwestern railroad, at Americus, and other points; that Americus is over 250 and is from the terminus of said railroad at Savannah. The applicants pray that upon the hearing of the cesse made by this application was heard on the content of the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard on the case made by this application was heard directed to recompense them for such overcharges, etc,

1. The case made by this application was heard on the 19th day of April last, the parties being present by their sgents and attorneys at law.

The counsel for the railroad company objected to the case being heard and determined on its merits by the commissioners upon several grounds. The only one of these grounds necessary to be here considered is. That the said shipment being of freight going beyond the boundaries of this state the commissioners have no power under the law to hear and determine the case made by the application.

The first question to be considered under this objection is, Was this shipment of cotton in fact freight going beyond the boundaries of this state? and, if so recondly, has the commission any jurisdiction over the questions made by the application. The application itself shows in terms, as does

The application itself shows in terms, as does the bill or lading also, that the conton was shipped from Americus for export. To export is, to transport from one country to another.

It further appears from the evidence submitted to the commission that the shipment was made from Americus over the line of the Central railroad to the wharf, one of the termini of the road in the city of Savannah; that the cotton was there unloaded from the cars of the road, and there placed aboard ships to be exported, i. e., to be carlied away from this country to another country. It further appears that in all cases where cotton is shipped under similar bills of lading to the one given in this case, it is the usage of the railroad company to carry the cotton to the wharf as was done in this case, and there unload the same for exportation by sea.

read company to carry the cotton to the wharf as was done in this case, and there unload the same for expertation by sea.

Do these facts show that it was the intention of the parties to the contract for shipment that the freight shipped should not be local freight, but should be freight intended to go beyond the toundaries of the state? We think they clearly do. There can be no doubt but what the intent of the shippers was that the intent of the shippers was that the inneportation of the cotton should not cease until the freight passed beyond the boundaries of this state. The fact that the road upon the line of which the shipment was commenced terminates in this state makes no difference. The contract provided that the cotton was to be shipped for export; that is, for tishesportation to another country. And, in pursuance of the agreement made for that purpose, it was it fact carried by the railroad company to the wherf at the terminus of its line, and was there delivered to vessels and was in fact thence exported from the state. It seems to us that no clearer case could be presented of an intention by the parties that the freight in question should there delivered to vessels and was in fact there exported from the state. It seems to us that no clearer case could be presented of an intention by the rarties that the freight in question should not be local merely, but that it should, by a continuous line of transportation, part rail and part water, go beyond the limits of this state, of which lime the Central railroad, from Americus to the wharf in Savannah, formed a part.

The fact that a portion of this line of exportation was by rail and a part by water makes no material difference so far as the question under consideration is concerned.

Being satisfied from the terms of the application itself, as well as from the evidence submitted to ms, that this shipment when made at Americus was intended by the parties to be freight going beyond the boundaries of the state, and that in pursance of such intention the same did go beyond the boundaries of the state, and that in pursance of such intention the same did go beyond the boundaries of the state, and that in pursance of such intention the same did go beyond the boundaries of the state, the second question to be considered is: Has the commission legal power to make the ruling applied for in the application? The question here presented is an important one, and this is, we believe, the first time that the decision of the commissioners upon any similar question has been evoked.

The powers granted to the commission are very clearly specified in the fifth section of the act creating this board, which reads as follows:

"See V. That the commissioners appointed as hereinbefore provided, shall, as provided in the

The powers granted to the commission are very clearly specified in the fifth section of the act cleating this board, which reads as follows:

"For V. That the commissioners appointed as hereinbefore provided, shall, as provided in the next section of this act, make reasonable and just rates of freight and passenger tartifs, to be observed by all railroad companies doing business in this state on the railroads thereof; shall make reasonable and just rules and regulations, to be observed by all railroad companies doing business in this state, as to charges at any and all points, for the necessary handling and delivering of freights; shall make such just and reasonable rules and regulations as may be recessary for preventing unjust discriminations in the transportation of freight and passengers on the railroads in this state; shall make reasonable and just rates of charges for use of railroad can carrying any and all kinds of freight and passengers on said railroads, no matter by whom owned or carried; and isall make just and reasonable rales and regulations, to be observed by said railroad companies on said railroads, to prevent the giving or paying of any rebate or bonus, directly or inducetly, and from misleading or deceiving the public in any manner as to the real rates charged for fich ht and passengers: Provided, that nothing in this state for carrying freight which comes from, or goes beyond, the boundaries of the state, and on which freight less than local rates on any railroad on the power and right to charge such rates for carrying freight which comes from, or goes beyond, the boundaries of the state, and companies on said railroad company in this state for carrying such freight as they possesse before the passage of this act; and said compisioners shall have full power by rules and regulations to designate and fight to charge such rates for freight and passenger transportation, to be allowed for longer and shorter distances on the same or different railroads, and to ascertain what shall be the limits of

shall be the limits of longer and shorter distances."

The proviso in the concluding part of this section of crates as a limitation upon the powers granted in the first part of the section. The legislature here says, in effect, that the commissioners shall have all the powers granted in the section, except in the cases which are specified in the proviso. The cases specified in the proviso are "all rates (herged by any railroad company in this state for freight which comes from or goes beyond the boundaries of the state and on which freight less than local rates are charged." In all such cases the commissioners are denied the power to contrastes of freight, and the railroad companies of the state are expressly declared to possess the same power and right, to charge rates for carrying such freight as they possessed before the passage of the act.

Now in the case before us, if the freight deliv-such freight as they possessed before the passage of the act.

Now in the case before us, if the freight delivered to the railroad company at Americus, was shipped to go beyond the boundary of the state, in accordance with the agreement for shipment, then it seems clear to us that this commission has no jurisdiction whatever in the case made by the application. Whatever right the applicants may have in the premises, it is quite apparent to us that the commissioners possess no legal power to pass upon such right. We must not assume to exercise powers withheld from us by law. We express no opinion as to the merits of the case if it were before a tribunal having jurisdiction to pass upon its merits. We simply determine that we have no power in the premises. The legislature has withheld such power from the commission, and, if any wrong has been done the applicants, we are compelled by a sense of duty to say that they must look for a remedy elsewhere.

This being our opinion, we must sustain the objection, and refuse the application.

A. C BRISCOE, Secretary. Bow Rates on Coal Were Reduced Office to al Creek Mining Company and Black Diamer d Coal Company, R. H. Richards, Jr., manager, Atlenta, Ga., April 29th, 1885.—Colonel E. P. Howell—Dear Sir: Referring to your remarks, Saturday, allow me to add a word. Before the East Tennessee road was built to Atlanta, we paid the Western and Atlantic railroad $1.50 per ton on "black classed coal" from Dalton to Atlanta. To-"black ciamond coal" from Dalton to Atlanta. Today we pay the East Tennessee $1.40 per ton from Coal Creek to Atlanta, or ten cents a ton less for 250 miles, than we paid the Western and Atlantic for 160 miles, and the price of 'black diamond parlcr lump coal," in Atlanta to day, at the yard, is 32 per ton, inspead of $8.50. Ask the thousa 2ds of laboring men in Atlanta, if the East Tennessee
Las not contributed something in this direction.
Manufacturers in Atlanta a few years ago paid for steam coal $4.50 per ton, delivered. To-day they pay $2.25.

Mr. George I. Sensy remarked to me a few days at that Atlanta seemed to him to be the "future Chicago of the south." and stated that he understood that manufacturers bought the best steam coal for $2.25 delivered.

Macon, at one time, paid $4.50 freight on coal, while to-day it is $1.85 by the East Tennessee.

Major Fink certainly is entitled to great credit for his unithing officiate bedevelop the material interests of the country along his line, and he knowld have the hearty good will of every city and town, and first and foremast, that of Atlanta, which he will surely get. Very respectfully.

T. H. Brand,

President Coal Creck Mining Company and Black Diamond Coal Company.

THE RECEIVERSHIP.

What the People Think of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Muddle. From the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser.

The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railcoad is one of the most important lines in Alabama, and in its affairs the people of this state feel a deep concern. The stem runs from Hagers-town to Cleveland and there branches off in three directions, one going to Memphis, through Alabama and Tennessee, one to Meridian through Alabama, and the other to Brunswick through Georgia. It is hardly possible that one of these Georgia. It is hardly possible that one of these branches can be wrecked without affecting, to some extent, the other two. Certainly anything that cripples a part of the system will impair the usefulness of the whole. To this extent Alabema is interested, and she views the situation in Georgia with some little alarm. The Georgia state court has appointed one man receiver and the federal courts another. The state court's receiver is appointed only temporarily until the merits of the contest can be decided, but Judge Hammond further decides that he cannot and will not consider the case on its merits until his authority in the appointment of Mr. Dorsey is recognized. In the meantime the road is threatened with executions on its property and declines in the appointment of Mr. Dorsey is recognized. In the meantime the road is threatened with executions on its property and declines to run any of its rolling stock into Georgia territory, and all freight has to be transferred at Chattanoosa. The condition of the road in Georgia is chaotic in the last degree, and the business men of the several cities have had meetings to protest against the further postponement of a trial of the caecon its merits, which is an absolutely necessary preliminary to a final settlement. The Georgia people are anxious that Mr. Fink should be appointed receiver of the lines in that state by the state as well as federal courts. The fight of a few creditors to prevent the Georgia branch from going under the single management of Mr. Fink is interpreted as an effort of the Georgia Central and Western and Atlantic to ruin what was fast becoming their too successful rival.

Alabama has been long looking to the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia to extend its line in this state from Selma through south west Alabama to the gulf. The experience of the owners in Georgia is not likely to encourage them in this project.

From the Hawkinsville Dispatch. Major Fink is a practical railroad man, and had already commenced the work of improvement o our portion of the line, by the laying of new ste rails between Macon and Brunswick. Major Fink is now in possession of the road as the receiver appointed by the United States court, while Judge I orsey is claiming or clamoring for the management of all that portion of the road from Chattanooga to Brunswick, under an appointment from Judge Hemmond, of Fulton superior court Hawkinsville and every town on the line from Macon to Brunswick is deeply interested in the question, and it appears to be the unanimous desire that Major Fins should be maintained by the courts as the receiver for the entire road through Georgia and the adjacent states. appointed by the United States court, while Judge From the Henry County Weekly.

To sum up the whole matter, it is a fight be-tween the lawyers and the people, in which the rights and feelings and honest sentiments of the latter have been defied, outraged and trampled upon. The people do not want Dorsey as receiver, because, in the very nature of the case, his management could not be productive of beneficial results. either in the betternaent of the property or convenience to the public. He knows absolutely nothing about the practical-workings of a railroad, gauged by the usual standard of experience and shilfy prerequisite to efficiency in railroad management. With a diarapted system and no friendly connections, either in or cutside of the state, the Georgia division could not be operated profitably, even with a practical railroad man as manager. With an inexperienced man as manager the result would be simply ruinous.

The citizens of McDonough and vicinity are in The citizers of McDonough and vicinity are in full accord with the spirit and object of the neeting beld in Atlanta last Monday, and protest most vigorously and solemnly against the appointment of any man as receiver who cannot, first, harmonize, and then efficiently manage, the varied and immense interests sought to be wrested from the present management and entrusted to the administration of a combination known to be incapable and unfriendly to every true interest of the East Tennessee system.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S APPOINT.

MENTS. The independent republican squabs and the mugwumps continue to protest against the appointment of the three democratic collectors of internal revenue, Pillsbury, Chase and Troup, in Massachusetts, Maine and Connecticut. The attitude of the equabs and mugwumps in this business is not only unreasonable, but places them before the country in a peculiarly absurd and foolish position. To an ordinary mortal they present the spectacle of men who, presuming overmuch on their standing as reformers, assistant democrats and what not, insist on dictating to the president the nature of the appointments he should make.

But what right have the mugwumps and the independent republicans to dictate to President Cleveland? . They have a right to criticise as severely as they may choose the character and fitness of democratic appointments, but they have no right to demand the removal of the appointees. New York and his taministration are re-whole country for the character of their ap. pointments. It will hardly be claimed that the administration is responsible to the mugwumps, but this is the attitude in which this reform branch of the republican party places itself. Moreover, it seems to be impres with the belief that it, and not the democratic administration, is responsible to the country for President Cleveland's appointments. Under these circumstances, it is not at all surprising that the independent squabs and friction and irritation. That they believe themselves to be the custodians and the conservators of all the virtue and intelligence of the time there can be no question, and under the circumstances, it is not at all surprising that they should proceed to make an exhibition of themselves whenever they feel dispesed to look on the president's appointments as unsuitable. We have no hesitation in saying that such displays of immodesty and lack of discretion are not at all becoming. The attitude of the mugwumps to day was precisely the attitude of Tammany a few months ago-the attitude of dictation. When Tammany was in the heydey of its mulishness, nothing that would be suggested, no movement that could be proposed, received its approval. Its speakers ranted, and its bargainers bargained, and its swappers swapped, and its traders traded, and the result was that the democratic party was continually in hot water while Tammany's mulishness lasted. But now that Tammany *hreatens to be more reasonably inclined, it seems we are to have a brand new branch of the kicking rink-so to speak-set up by the mugwumps. The whole business is ridiculous in the extreme. When President Cleveland was elected, the New York Evening Post printed a manly and modest editorial article setting forth the desires of the anti-Blaine republicans. In this article the Evening Post declared that it would be best for the country for President Cleveland to administer the officers of the country from a strictly demo-chic standpoint. This meant, of course, the should make his administration dis-inclivery democratic. This article was favorably commented on by the professional adependents, but there has hardly been a nocratic appointment to which the professional independents have not interposed the most strenuous objections. The objections to the three New England evenue collectors, so far as we have seen any jections formulated, are that they are arnest democrats-partisan democrats, if ou please-men who believe that democratic iples are right, and who believe that it essential to the welfare of the people of he whole country that the government hould be administered by democrats. The renne collectors, as re unocratic worker 'erest/

BUSINESS AND WAR.

The great markets continue to declare that war between Russia and England is highly probable. Cotton is going down and foreign exchange is going up. Cotton has fallen in Liverpool, although it is doubtful whether the present crop will be sufficient to meet the needs of the spinners up to the first day of September, and although an outbreak of war would not materially lessen or interfere with the consumption of cotton goods. But it is useless to argue against a decline that has taken place; and it stands a fact that cotton is selling now, without enough in sight to supply the demands of the world, almost as low as it did at this time of the year after the great crop of 1882-83 It is scarcely probable that actual war can further reduce the price of cetton, although in war times, and especially at the outset of trouble, there seems to be no telling what the effect will be upon cotton, so sensitive is the crop in the presence of war and rumors of war. We are again bringing in more goods in value than we are sending abroad. The tide has turned. In the month of March we bought broadcloths, silks, champagne and other articles in excess of all the meats, breadstuffs, petroleum oil and other products that we could find a market for, to the extent of $1,602,000. This of course tends towards an outflow of gold, and it may be that the necessity of preparing for the contingency of war is inducing European holders of American securities to send them home to be turned into gold. At any rate exchange has risen until there is almost a profit in shipping gold from this country. And we have none to spare.

If there is a speedy declaration of war, it is not probable our foreign trade will long show a balance against us; for in that event, all Europe, except hermetically sealed Russia, will want our products much more than they will our gold. Trade and speculation awai the ending of the prolonged tension between Russia and England. Trade is sluggish and money scarce in the country, and inactive in our great money centers, and no material change need be expected until the war probabilities terminate in either peace or conflict And then the great question will relate to the outturn of the crops. Wool and wheat are the two great crops of the early season, and corn and cotton of the season's closing months, and if we have plenty of these four products for home use and to meet the demands of other nations, we shall get along comfortably, war or no war, boom or no boom. It is altogether too early to say what the harvest will be.

REDUCED POSTAGE.

Two-cent postage did not in the first year of its operation deplete the treasury. More letters and fewer postal cards were dispatched, and more sealed and fewer open circulars were carried in the mail bags. General Hazen, the third assistant postmaster general, puts the loss of the first year of twocent postage at $1,967,592. It was more than half a million below the estimated loss. The gross postal receipts were $42,184,809, thus leaving no deficit of large dimensions to be met from the pockets of the people. The loss in revenue will be fully regained in the course of two or three years, and the people will then wonder wby the three-cent rate was so long retained. Nor does General Hazen anticipate any material loss of revenue when the single weight becomes one ounce instead of a half cunce. This change goes into effect on the first day of July, and the postoffice officials seem to think it may add to the revenue by inducing persons sending light packages to send them under seal instead of at parcel rates. The small loss that will occur through the reduction of rates on newspapers will be offset at first by the production of better papers for the people, and afterwards by an increased circulation that will turn into the treasury as much as the higher rate ever did.

It is reported that the postmaster-general will not introduce the new ten-cent stamps for the immediate delivery of letters until the first day of October. The time of bringing this new feature of the postal service is left discretionary with the postmaster-general. In the large cities the district messenger companies do not like the plan, but in all other circles and sections it is thought the new system will prove very profitable and acceptable.

GREAT BRITAIN is still feeling around for a needle and thread with which to patch up a peace.

Peace is a good thing.

A VERY interesting surgical operation was reently performed in a New York hospital. A young woman, a Miss Finnell, had an arm shattered to such an extent as to render it necessary to supply live muscles from a dog. The young woman was put under the influence of ether and placed on the operating table. The full nature of the operation had not been explained to her, but she fully realized that an experiment was to be formed that might restore to her the use of her arm. Alongside the operating table, on another table, the dog was laid. An ancesthetic was also administered to it. An incis-ion was made in Miss Finnell's arm at the seat of the injury and the flesh laid open. The ends of the contracted and paralyzed muscles were cut off to give a raw, fresh surface. It was expected that by supplying live muscle the blood vessels would act upon the new part and transfusion of blood would immediately follow, furnishing life to the transplanted muscle. The surgeon, by quick stroke of his scalpel, cut open the thigh the senseless canine. From the main muscle or tendon of the animal he severed a strip four inches long and two wide. Almost instantly, and before ontraction could set in or its living influence be deadened, the muscle was transplanted into the open arm of the woman. After this had been done the patient's arm was sewn up and bandaged and to nature was left the rest. The dumbanima that had furnished the living flesh was bandaged up and tenderly treated. Apparently neither atient nor victim experienced any pain or suffered by the operation. THE Vigo Bay treasure company is a Philadelphia institution. It was organized to conduct a search for hidden treasure. Mr. John J. THE Richmond Dispatch warns the northern ewspapers not to talk too glibly about repudiaon in Virginia and other southern states. As the Dispatch puts it, the republican congresses of 66-68 compelled Virginia and the other southern states to repudiate wholly the debts which they had contracted in aid of the confederacy. These epublicans in congress also repudiated a debt of illy two thousand millions of dollars which Mr. Lincoln incurred on their behalf when he, in olation of the constitution, emancipated the slaves. By this action Virginia lost 500,000 slaves Now, why was Virginia's debt contracted during the war less sacred than her debt contracted before nd since the war? Would the confederate states if they had been successful, have had any moral right to compel West Virginia to repudiate the debt she contracted in aid of the United States government during the war? Why should Virginia be told that it is patriotism to efuse to pay one class of her debts, and epudiation if she refuses to pay a portion of another debt which she is unable to pay? Of course these are tough questions. The Dispatch brings up the morality of the business and that shuts off all argument from a practical standpoint. If 'moral right" is to be made the test of our politions this great government must dissolve like the baseless fabric of a vision.

REPULTY is the soul of wit. Every school boy has heard that it is also a good thing in letter writing, but here it may be carried to extremes. For instance, the following: "Heber, Ark., April 25th. His excellency Grover Cleveland, Washington, D. C.: Dear Sir-I want a postoffice. Yours truly, M. R. Whyte." Now this is a little too intense. It simply informs the president that Whyte wants a postoffice. It doesn't state what postof fice. It fails to show where Whyte lives, whether he is a republican or a democrat, an American citizen or an unnaturalized foreigner, a man or a woman, a white person or a negro. It fails to show that the people of the vi cinage want Whyte to have the postoffice and consider him well qualified for it. The letter is manly straightforward and frank. It does not beat about the bush, but goes to the point. Still it is fatally defective. If Whyte is in earnest he must try

THIS is the land of the free and the home of the rave. It is also the land of law and order. These reat truths have just been impressed very forcibly upon a gang of tramps in the suburbs of Anrson, Ind. The good citizens of Anderson, having endured the presence of the tramps until forarance ceased to be a virtue, organized a party of forty men armed with hickory switches, and proceeded to whip the bummers until the blood came. After being well castigated the tramps were forced to swim the river to the opposite shore. The prompt and summary reme dy adopted by the public spirited citizens of Auderson will doubtless effectually abate the tramp nuisance in that part of the country. Possibly it may be objected that such methods savor more of Russia than of America. It may be said that it is no crime to be poor and out of work. New Orleans, April 18.—I met Governor Hoadly in the St. Charles hotel here to-day. He has en tirely recovered from his illness, and looks sun browned and well. He tells me he will not be candidate for any office, and that he will retire to Cincinnati and take his old place at the bar there

In chatting about Ohio politics, he said:
"I don't think a large vote will be polled this fall. It is somewhat of a question which party will succeed. There will be no great issues discussed, and the cnief question will probably be that of temperance legislation. The amendment of the constitution changing the date of the election will likely be carried, and I thank God that Ohio will no longer be an October state.
McKinley will, it looks to me, be the republican candidate, and the democratic one will be Durbin Ward, General Denver or Charley N. Lamison, or some other good democrat."

"How about the senatorship?"

"The election will sected that. If the democrats carry the state I see no reason why John McLean should not be a candidate. If the republicans, Sherman will in all probability be re-elected. He is the greatest man in the republican party in Chio, and I don't know where they can find a man who could aspire to it over him. I do not like many things about Senator Sherman, but I have enough state pride to wish to have Ohio ably represented. Judge Thurman is reported as saying that Ohio never let her children grow six feet high without chopping off their legs. If Sherman should be thrown over in such a case I should say the republican party were taking two-feet men and putting them in the place of its six footer. If the republican party is to have the senator I hope it will be John Sherman. Had Sherman been neminated at the last convention I think he nominated at the last convention I think he would have been elected."
"How do you like Cleveland's outstart?"

"How do you like Cleveland's outstart?" I asked.
"Yery much indeed. I believe he is doing right, and I believe he will be renominated at the close of his term and reelected in 1885. From my slight acquaintance with President Cleveland I judge him to be a careful, painstaking man, clever and full of common sense. The oddest thing about him is that he has not a particle of personal ambition. He acts as he thinks for the right and because he believes it will be for the good of the nation. He is, in other words, 'the Lord's man.' His appointments, so far, have been good ones. It is true the office seekers are angry, but the people are pleased. There are more than 10,000 people to every office seeker, I should judge, and these people will not care much what the office seekers say. Cleveland's appointments have so far been taken chiefly from the east and south. New York and the solid south are good combination to rely upon, and this seems to be Cleveland's hand. If he can give the country a good, conservative administration, and at the end of his term leave the country better off than when he was elected, there will be little opposition to him. You must remember that when he was elected the country was at the lowest financial ebb. Now, if business brightens, and four years hence we are on a wave of prosperity, with a fair administration, I don't see how his renomination can be prevented."

A HUSBAND'S DEED.

HE FATALLY SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND THEN KILLS HIMSELF.

Other News From Macon-The Bast Tenness Meeting-The Floyd Rifles Anniversary -The Chamber of Commerce, Etc.

Macon, Ga., May 1.-[Special.]-At ten o'clock this morning, W. H. Jones shot and probably fa-tally wounded his wife, and then committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Jones was a man of about fifty years of age. He had lived in this city a number of years, and employed part of the time as an engineer on the Southwestern railroad, and lately in the same capacity on the Brunswick division of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad. He had een twice married, his second wife being Miss Kate Norris, who is under thirty years of age. To the latter, Jones has been married a little more than two years and a half.

From the testimony of persons acquainted with both parties, it seems that Jones and his wife did not live happily together. It is said that she was addicted to drink, and that she was in the habit of pawning all sorts of articles to obtain money with which to gratify her appetite. About three weeks ago, Jones returned from a trip down the road, and found his wife absent from home. He instituted a search for her, and found her in a house of ill fame in the lower part of the city. He carried her home and gave her a whipping. The police tried to make a case against Jones, but his wife refused to testify against him.

Since the whipping the couple have been con tinually engaged in fusses, and their lives must have been most miserable. Yesterday Jon ed home from his usual trip and again found his wife

He searched for her, and, it is said, found her in the house of a regro woman who lives near the nack. He induced her to return home with him. and nothing more is known of their movement antil 7 o'clock this morning. They lived in a cottage, recently built by Jones, near the track of the atlanta division of the Central railroad, just out of Second street. At 7 o'clock this morning husand and wife were seen to go to the house of a negro woman who lives close by. Mrs. Jones reurned in about ten minutes, and her husband followed in about an hour. At 10 o'clock persons in the vicinity heard several pistol shots in the house, and rushing in, discov red Mrs. Jones lying on the front porch with her brain slowly cozing out of a terrible wound in the orchead about two inches above the right eye. Jones was lying in the hall dead. He had sho himself through the head about the left temple. The weapon used was an old five shooter, thirty two calibre, Smith & Wesson pistol. When pick ed up all the chambers were empty. Dr. Johnson was summoned and gave Mrs. Jones all the assistance possible, but he was unable to restore her to

As soon after the shooting as possible, Corone W. H. Hodnett summoned a jury and held an in quest on Jones's body. The following facts were

Rosella Brooks, sworn, testified: "Yesterday evening, late, Mr. Jones had two pistols, said he paid five dollars for the black one. He told Miss Kate so. Miss Kate got both pistols at one time and threw them under the barrels under the house. They had a big fight in the front yard about three o'clock. Miss Kate had one pistol in her bosom and got the black pistol from Mr. Jones in the tussel, and threw the barrel under the house. After the fight Mr. Jones told his wife to come in and make friends. They then went into the house crying, and both fell on the sofa and prayed. He said to her several times: 'If you don't go away, Kate, I'll wind up the business.'" Then he laid down on the bed and told her to go away from him that she had brought him to that. They had a fight Friday night. When I got here this morning she was lying on the front porch. She on his back in the hallway, and when I saw blood

E. S. Sinclair, sworn, testified: "I was in my yard and heard two pistol shots a little after ten o'clock. They were in the direction of Jones's ouse. I came here and found Miss Kate lying on the front verandah with her hands across her breast. I stopped at the gate and she raised up and looked towards the hallway and then fell back. I then went and telephoned to the city hall for officers. When I returned I saw Jones in the hallway, dead. I had heard of their trouble and expected something of this kind.

Kate Brooks, sworn, testified: "I came her this morning between 6 and 7 o'clock. Miss Kate was fixing to get breakfast. Mr. Jones went of about 7 o'clock, but came back in half an hou and both went down to Becky Sheppard's, in Tracy's bottom. Miss Kate came back alone, and after ten minutes she came in. I then went-off to

Mrs. Collier's. R. J. Roland sworn: "I was across the railroad this morning between ten and eleven o'clock, and saw Jones and his wife talking to each other. They seemed to be mad but I was too far away to hear what they said. I saw him go up to her, draw pistol and present it to her head and fire. Shellfell and he turned and walked in the house, and in a moment I heard another pistol shot. She lay on the porch but said nothing as I could hear. I then went home." Dr. L. Johnson sworn: "I was called to see Mr. and Mrs. Jones, about 11 o'clock, and I found Mr. Jones dead and Mrs. Jones lying on the bed with a bullet hole in the left temple about an inch from the eye, and her brains oozing out and unconscious. About three or four days ago Jones met me and asked me if I had seen his wife. I replied that I had not. He said she wanted him to come after me as she was sick. He said that when he went home she was gone. He searched for her and said he was going to have revenge. I asked him if he had decided to quit her, and he replied he had. He asked my advice. I advised a divorce from her. He seemed to be satisfied with my advice. They had been married nearly three years." THE JURY'S VERDICT.

After weighing the testimony the jury rendered the following verdict:

"We the jury find that the deceased W. H. Jones came to his death from a gun shot wound in the right eye and temple inflicted by his own hands." C. A. Dewberry, foreman; W. H. Usury, E. S. Sinclair, J. D. Johnson, W. D. Drivet, R. V. Ler-roiz, J. Greenwood, T. Waterhouse, W. J. Spring, J. L. Johnson, J. Amonson, W. A. Rsiney, W. H. Hodnett, coroner.

Jones will be buried to-morrow by the brotherhood of locomotive engineers. Mrs. Norris, the mother of Mrs. Jones, and other relatives and friends have done all that could be done for the desperately wounded woman, but it is more than probable that she will die before morning.

The terrible affair is greatly deplored. A more herrible crime has never occurred here.

Fink or Dorsey. THE MERCHANTS OF MACON PETITION JUDGE HAM-

MOND TO SETTLE THE TROUBLES AT ONCE, MACON, Ga., May 1 .- [Special.] -According to previous agreement, the merchants of this city held another meeting at eleven o'clock this morning, at the office of Major W. H. Ross, to express their sentiment concerning the receivership troubles of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad.

Among the business men present were Messrs. H. T. Johnson, W. R. Cox, W. H. Ross, F. J. M. Daly, S. Waxelbaum, T. D. Tirsley, W. R. Rogers, R. M. Rogers, I. B. English, J. W. Harris, S. R. Jaques, S. Gibian, J. C. Van Syckel, R. S. Cole man, W. A. Doody, A. Jessup, A. B. Small, W. H. Bone, T. C. Burke and W. R. Singleton.

At half past eleven o'clock, Major Ross called the meeting to order. He stated that the object of he meeting was to hear the resolutions prepared by the committee appointed yesterday, and to express opinion as to the complications over the reship of the East Tennessee, Virginia and eorgia railroad.

As the representative of the committee, Mr. R. M. Rogers said that it had met yesterday in the office of Johnson & Harris and had prepared some resolutions which he would read.

The resolutions were as follows:

"Whereas, The present conflict of authority over the Georgia division of the East Tennessee, Virginia, and Georgia railroad is inflicting heavy damage on that property, and causing serious loss to business interests along its line, we, the chamber of commerce of Macon, anxious to assist in allaying the widespread uneasiness which exists concerning the road's future,

Resolved 1st, That while we have entire confidence in the court before which this case is pending, we nevertheless dread the delays of the law, and therefore we respectfully urge upon his honor, Judge Hammond, that the gravity of the situation demands a prompt decision as to who shall control the road in this state, and we ask that he will waive any seeming contempt of his authority on the part of Manager Fiftk in not turning the lutions were as follows:

control the road in this state, and we ask that he will waive any seeming contempt of his authority on the part of Manager Fink in not turning the projectly over to the receiver appointed by him, and immediately try the case upon its merits and decice it if possible, so as to secure the greatest good to the largest number.

Resolved, 2d. That we invite the people along the line of said road to meet together and take such action as will emphasize the danger which threatens their business interests.

Resolved, 3d, That our secretary shall furnish a copy of these resolutions to Judge Hammond. Resolved, 4th, That the newspapers of the city are requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

Mr. R. S. Coleman" said that he thought the resolutions were in good taste, and that he would move their adoption. Mr. T. D. Tinsley said that as it was understood that Judge Hammond would try the case on its merits on Saturday, he could not see the necessity of adopting the resolutions. On motion, the report of the committee was reccived. Mr. W. R. Rogers was opposed to the resolutions. He did not think that they expressed anything, but merely contained a request that amounted to nothing. He then offered the following resolutions as a substitute: "Whereas, That at the instance of a few individuals, citizens of the state of Georgia, for cause amounting to a minifed sum compared with the great interest of the Georgia civision of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, have deemed it a duty to place in a perilous condition the line of this road traversing over four hundred miles of Georgia territory, which has been principally constructed with capital outside of our state; and side of our state; and whoreas, proceedings of this and others of a kindred character are well calculated to repel and exclude all capital that would, under favorable circumstances, seek an investment in rallroad ex-circumstances, seek an investment in railroad ex-tensions in our state. Resolved. That while we entertain the fullest confidence in the judiciary of the state, we feel that the interest of all concerned could and would be fully and more securely protected under the one management of Major Fink for the whole line of road.

Resolved. That we deplore the fact that the action of the few mentioned has already diverted a large amount of capital that would have been expected and the statement on the Georgia division. tion of the few mentioned has already diverted a large amount of capital that would have been ex-pended as betterments on the Georgia division, and that it has necessitated the discharge of hunreds of its employes.
Resolved, That all conservative business men cen but feel the great damage that must result to the business interests of our state by placing in jeopardy a property that is such an important fac-tor to our whole commercial interest, and that we most respectfully urge a hearing of the case at the

for to our whole commercial interest, and that we most respectfully urge a hearing of the case at the earliest possible day, as we feel that delay can but be productive of further damage to the great interest in the case of the case o be productive of further damage to the great interest involved."

Mr. Rogers made a speech explaining the object of his substitute, and warmly urged its adoption, Mr. A. B. Small favored the substitute, Mr. W. R. Cox, in behalf of the committee, said that the resolutions presented by Mr. Rogers had been submitted to the committee, but that four out of five members opposed them, believing them too lengthy and too violent. He thought the resolutions offered bythe committee sufficient, and did not believe that the meeting concurred in what was expressed in those of Mr. Rogers.

Mr. I. B. English favored the substitute.

He regarded it as respectful expression of the feeling of Macon business men, and altogether proper.

feeling of Macon business men, and altogether proper.

Mr. R. S. Coleman spoke in favor of the committee's resolutions. Mr. T. D. Tinsley did not think the adoption of any resolutions necessary. The court would decide the case on its merits on Saturday, Mr. I. B. English made rather a lengthy speech in favor of the substitute. Mr. A. B. Small moved that the substitute be adopted. Mr. T. D. Tinsley said that he objected to the substitute because it seemed to point out a judgment for the court. He thought this a dangerous precedent to set. It resolutions must be adopted, he preferred those submitted by the committee. Mr. S. R. Jaques seconded the motion to adopt the substitute.

A division being called for on the vote to adopt the substitute, the result was declared to be, yeas 7, neys 10.

A Grand Military Display in the Port City MOBILE, Ala., May 1.—[Special.]—There are busy scenes in Mobile to day, and the striking colors of the military uniforms add richness to the crowds on the streets. The Columbus Guards reached the encampment grounds at 8 o'clock this morning. The members of the company are in excellent condition, and feel confident that they will hold their own. The prospect of their winning a prize is considerably more encouraging now than before they left home. The Guards were the third company to arrive, and were assigned a position at Camp Drum, between com, pany F, Louisville legion, and the Chickasaw Guards, of Memphis. The Muscatine Guards, of Muscatine, Iowa, arrived on Monday, and the celebrated Rifles, of Mobile, went into camp yesterday. All three companies had practice drill this afternoon, and the Guards' excellent drilling was favorably commented upon and applauded by over three hundred spectators. The chances are flattering, and will be very certain if the regular members of the drill team at home arrive

COURTS TAKES THE LEAD. The Second Day Race at the Rink ... An Ex-

A large andience witnessed the close of the sec ond day's walk last night, and those present were well pleased with the show. well pleased with the show.

The finish was exciting and the audience went wild. The last ten minutes of the race was decidedly satisfactory to the audience. Burns, Courts, Prater and the Mexican let themselves out, and went spinning around the track. They rolled off went spinning around the track. They rolled off lap after lap in excellent style, and the audience was more than liberal with its applause. As the hand of the clock approached the hour of ten, the audience rose to their feet, and fairly shook the rink with their yells. The Mexican treated the audience to some Simon pure heel and toe walking. It was the best exhibition of the kind ever seen in Atlanta. Courts and Burns were compelled to run in order to keep up with him.

Six of the men appeared on the track yesterday morning at the start. They were Ford, Burns, Six of the men appeared on the track yesterday morning at the start. They were Ford, Burns, Frater, Courts, Garrear and Dale. They all appeared in good shape, and when the word go was given they skipped off in fine style. The Mexican instantly went to the lead again and made the lap first. The others followed in quick order and before the first mile was over tney had all settled themselves down to solid work. The audience watched each man closely. They wanted to see some signs of soreness or lameness but neither pedestrian gratified this desire. In fact each man appeared in better shape than on Thursday, Frater looked fresh and kept up that jog trot for two hours. Ford was tright, and with his hop went around the track as if he meant to get there. The Mexican seemed as imber as a greased leather string and forged along finely. Courts and Burns were in good shape.

When the men started the score stood:

Gets His Ninth Commission.

From the Gainesville, Ga., Press.

A. L. Davis, "Uncle Jack" as he is called, is sixty-nine years old. He is now in possession of his ninth commission as justice of the peace, and served two years under Bullock's administration without a commission. When he serves his four years under this commission, it will make thirty-eight years he has filled the office. He has an old shotgun, which he has had torty years, and with which he has killed over sixty deer. He never borrowed a dollar in his life, and always had corn, meat, fodder, oats and wheat to sell, until two or three years ago, when he moved to town. He has been a faithful, consistent member of the Methodist church for fifty-two years. Every one has the utmost confidence in Uncle Jack, and like him. This world would be much better off if there were more like him. Gets His Ninth Commission,

A NEW GAMB. Baseball with Cards .-- A Tournament Already Arranged. Boston, May 1.—Boston has a good many 'crazes' during the season, but the very latest is baseball with cards." Whether it is because the game is extensively advertised, or because it is a sort of parlor imitation of the greatest of outof door amusements is merely conjectural, but, since the Boston league nine began to play it, other professionals and amateurs, and even the old whist players have taken it up, so that it has become almost as universal in this universal hub as the old "fifteen puzzle" was in its day.

The game has merits of its own beyond doubt, for the professional players say it possesses nearly all the good qualities of whist without being so slow. Other nines in the league have taken it up as a postime, and a tournament is being planned in which all the clubs will take part. There will be two players from each. The Providence, St. Louis, Boston and Chicago nines have agreed to enter their best players, and it is believed that Philadelphia and the other nines will also enter. The games will begin in May, when the league season opens in Boston, and the series will be completed in June. The prize, a costly trophy, will go to the club whose representatives will it.

The game is a peculiar one, and, though simple, has an element of "science" in it. The cards embrace characteristics illustrative of the national game. Instead of the king, queen, etc., the value of the cards is shown by good pictorial illustrations, representing "catcher," "striker," "umpire," "ify catch," "home run," "foul ball" etc., terms which are fully understood by persons who have seen many games out of doors. It is played with two pairs, like whist, each starting with nine cards, and the game can be made as many innings long as Cesired. There being nine tricks, of four cards and the cards trick taken those four by either pauly.

The object of each player is to score runs and at the continuous content of the cards and the cards are can be made as many innings long as Cesired. There being nine tricks, of four cards and the cards can be and can made as many innings long as Cesired. There being nine tricks, of four cards and the cards and the cards are can be made as many innings long to continue the content of the cards are can be made as many innings long the content of the cards are can be made as many i since the Boston league nine began to play it, counted for each trick taken bove four by either party.

The object of each player is to score runs and at the same time prevent his opponent from doing so. Every play must begin with a "striker" at the bat, and the success of the "striker" in making his "jun," depends upon the chances of a "wild throw." the skill of a "base hit," or the decision of the "umpire." For example, when a "striker," a "one-base hit," a "first baseman" and a "wild throw" are played, it shows a striker, having made his base on a one-base hit, has been caught playing off base by a first baseman, who would have put him out were not the card "wild-throw" played, showing the ball had been thrown wildly and the runner in consequence was not put out.

wildly and the runner in consequence was not put out.

There are scores of such combinations, and the game, while having a large element of chance in it, requires skill, memory, judgment, rapidity of thought and application. It is not unlike "catching the ten" in whist, when that feature is introduced to enliven the game. Captain Morrill's men say they like it, and it will help them to spend their evenings pleasantly while the league season lasts.

Who will win, Courts, Burns, Prater, Ford or the Mexican.

Oats were active but somewhat easier, closing 1/4 6%c under yesterday. There was more feeling in provisions, mess por clining 20c, while lard ruled a shade easier. One of the features of the day on 'change wa the trading in small lots of 1,000 bushels of grain and too barrels of pork under the new rule per mitting such transactions, and an active trade was Collector Crenshaw Succeeds Collector Johnson---A Testimonial to the Latter. Yesterday morning Mr. Thomas C.Crenshaw, Jr., was sworn in by U. S. Commissioner Will Haight, as collector of internal revenue for the district of Georgia. He at once assumed the district of Georgia. He at once assumed charge of the office and his appointees were sessigned to their various posts of duty. Nearly all the newly appointed deputies and gaugers for the different districts of the state were in the city. They were commissioned and furnished with the books and material necessary to the business of their offices, and most of them returned to their homes yesterday to assume the duties assigned to them. Mr. Crenshaw, having reeigned his position of member of the Georgia legislature from Troup county, the governor has issued an order for a special election for his successor on the first Tuesday in June. Mr. A. W. Fite, the deputy at Cartersville is also a member of the legislature, and will probably resign soon. legislature, and will probably resign soon.

A PLEASANT EPISODE
in the custombouse. Mr. Walter Johnson, the retiring collector, was invited into the district court room, where he found a party of his former deputies and clerks awaiting him. Mr. M. Van Estes, after Mr. Johnson had entered the room, approached him and addressed him as one who was once more free from the restraints of office and an independent American citizen. Mr. Estes said that the late subordinates of Mr. Johnson, desiring to give some expression to their friendship for him and their appreciation of his many acts of kindness toward them, begged that he would accept a gold watch and chain which Mr. Es es handed to him with the assurance that with it went their sincere good wishes for his happiness and prosperity. The following named gentlemen joined in this testimonial:

J. A. Bledsoe, who presided at the meeting; J. A. Crawford, A. J. Spence, J. B. Gaston, W. W. Colquitt, W. S. Whitford, W. O. H. Shepard, M. Van Estes, T. W. Scott, L. Meyer, J. C. and W. H. McWhorter. Mr. Johnson, in receiving the watch, said:

Gentlemen—The handsome watch that you have given me is sincerely prized, not only for its intrincit value, but because it is a testimony of your ricadship and good wishes. To have won the confidence and esteem of those with whom I have been so intimately associated, affords me deep and lasting gratification. It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony to the fact that in the difficult discharge of my official duties, my burdens have been lightened and my responsibilities lessened by your efficiency and fidelity. You have been the and faithful servants of a great government. In severing our pleasant relations I beg each one of you to sceept my sincere thanks for your uniform courtesy to me personally, and my earnest wish that the future may have in store for you its brightest and choicest blessings.

At the time the theft occurred Mr. Kile was sitting in front of his place of business. The thief entered the house through a back door and succeeded in breaking the money drawer loose. Mr. Kile does not know just how much money he lost, but he thinks about twelve dollars.

WILKINS HEARD FROM AGAIN.

Yesterday Chief Connolly received a letter Yesterday Chief Connolly received a letter from the chief of police at Montreal, Canada. The letter was in reply to one written several days ago by Chief Connolly, and was concerning Wilkins, the confidence man. The letter stated that Wilkins had been wanted in Canada for an offense similar to the one he perpetrated in this city, but that the reward offered for him had been withdrawn. It also declared that Wilkins had served terms in a half dozen d fferent states for the same confidence game. Wilkins is yet in jail, but will be given a trial next week probably. He continues to declare that he has done no wrong and that he is not afraid of a trial.

SOME OTHER NOTES.

Chief Connolly has in his possession a fine liamond ring and a plain gold ring for which Recorder Anderson held his court yesterday

Night before last a burglar made three separate attempts to enter f. M. Caldwell's residence on Luckie street, but was frightened away each time.

TO BE TRIED FOR RAPE A Conductor Under Indictment for a Grave Offense-Discharged from His Place. Captain James Hightower Davis, who was arrested Wednesday in Augusta on an indictment charging him with the rape of an At-lanta girl, was in the city yesterday. It was stated at first that the young lady in point resided in Atlanta. It has since been ascertained, however, that her home is in Augusta, and that her name is Cornelia Francis Wim-berly, and was only visiting in the city. She berly, and was only visiting in the city. She is a young girl yet in her teens, and is said to be quite pretty. Captain Davis was a conductor on the Georgia railroad, until this indictment for rape was entered against him. Then the authorities of the road discharged him. He resides in Augusts and is a constant of the property of the children. married man with a family of five children. He has heretofore borne a good reputation and is well connected. He protests his entire innocence of the grave charge and says he will be able to clearly vindicate his character and secure an honorable discharge. Yester-day he engaged General L. J. Gartrell to de-fend the case. It will come up for trial at the present term of Fulton superior court and will excite much interest.

The Huntley Company Last Night. "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" was repeated last night to a very appreciative audience by the Huntley dramatic company. The play has already been noticed in these columns, and was presented in the same creditable manner as before. At the matinee to-day at 2:80 p.m. "Enoch Arden" will be repeated, and in the evening for their farewell performance the company will present the great omantic drama, entitled, "The Sea of Ice." New scenery, gorgeous costumes and artistic mechanical effects will be shown to the public for this, the close of Mr. Huntley's engagement in Atlanta.

General L. J. Gartrell. General L. J. Gartrell's able defense of young White in the murder trial which ended yesterday, showed that the great lawyer still stands at the head of the bar. Young White walked from the courthouse a free man and has gone to his distant home. The great speech of General Gartrell swayed the jury to tears and thrilled the audience in the courtroom. It was one of the greatest speeches of his life, and was so pronounced by all who heard it.

A WAIL AGAINST FINK.

BILL TO PREVENT IMPROVE-MENTS AND FREIGHT WARS,

r. Charles Phinizy, of the Georgie Railroad Through His Attorney, Mr. Julius I., Brows, Files a Remarkable Amendment to the Angier Bill-The Case To-Day.

The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad case will come up before Judge Hammond at 9 o'clock this morning on a rule requiring the complainants to show cause why the case should not be heard on its merits. The result of this investigation will be looked for with great interest. AN AMENDMENT TO THE BILL.

Georgia railroad, has through counsel, Mr. Julius L. Brown, filed an amended bill in the case. In it he claims to be the holder of fifty thousand dollars of the income mortgage bonds of the company. These are the second series bonds. They are not due for thirty years, and are payable out of the net income of the road. They bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, which is payable out of the net ncome for the particular year, and the inter-income for the particular year, and the interest is non-cumulative. Mr. Phinizy charges that the road has been grossly mismanaged by the directory and officers, and that it was all done for the purpose of producing financial embarrassment and wrecking the road in order that it might be seld and a reorganization had. He charges that if it had been properly managed payments would have been made upon the interest out of the net income. He further/charges that the

have a prior lien on the road in Georgia, one superior to the holders of the first mortgage bonds. He alleges that the first mortgage is void and that the money for which the income bonds were issued was used in constructing the road and that that gives them an equitable right to payment out of the property. He charges that for sometime before Major Fink's appointment as receiver he was general manager of the road and had almost the entire practical control of the business of the company with power to fix rates, appoint agents, etc., and that he made rates of freight over the roads so low, and without any regard to his duty to the holders of the income bonds and that the rates were not renumerative and in many instances caused a loss to the company. That he illegally established a tive and in many instances caused a loss to the company. That he illegally established a system of free delivery of freights to mer-chants in Atlanta, and diverted a part of the revenues of the company to paying the transfer company in Atlanta. That during November, December, January and February last he continued to reduce the rates of tolls on the roads controlled by him to such a figure that they were ngure that they were

NOT REMUNERATIVE,
notably making a contest with the Cincinnati,
New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroad and the Louisville and Nashville railroad, whereby the roads under his control did not earn just or reasonable rates for the freignes hauled; that the volume of business hauled was very large, and if he had charged reasonable rates for the scruines that the income bonds would have been much greater value. That he engaged in what are called freight wars, whereby the rates were so reduced that they were not reasomable charges for transportation, and that since Major Fink has been in charge of the road as receiver he has continued the same policy; that he has antagonized the roads with which he does business in Georgia to such an extent that almost, if not all, of them are in conflict with his management. That his scents cut rates of freight and passenger. his agents cut rates of freight and passenger his agents cut rates of freight and passenger fair tar below that fixed by the GEORGIA RAILROAD COMMISSION as just and reasonable. That this policy was so detrimental to the condition of the road that in the latter part of last year it became necessary to raise a million of dollars for the purpose of improving the physical and financial condition of the read, and that would not have been perseaver if Fight had inancial condition of the road, and that would not have been necessary if Fink had charged just and reasonable rates for services. The amendment is very voluminous. It charges among other things, that the proceedings in the United States court were instituted for the purpose of carrying out the scheme of wrecking the road. The bill prays, among other things, that an accounting be scheme of wrecking the road. The bill prays, among other things, that an accounting be had, and all sums of money paid as rebates, and sums paid for free delivery of goods, be scertained and declared to be a special trust fund, and that the company be decreed always to charge as much for transportation of freight and passengers over its lines in Georgia as the railroad commis sioners of Georgia may determine to be just and reasonable. That he further be enjoined from paying rebates or any sums for

or from making any unusual application of its gross income to the erection of new or expensive depots, machine shops or iron bridges where the present bridges will do or can be replaced by the same kind of bridges or works as formerly existed or from spending any as formerly existed or from spending any money for anything more expensive than that formerly used on the road, or which will cost more than the article or structure sought to be

As it is known that Major Fink's whole idea is to put the road in first class condition and prepare it to do a heavy business, with all the necessary shops, depots, etc., this amendment to the bill becomes a very important matter. The bill filed in the United States court seeks the foreclosure of this income mortgage as well as the prior mortgage.

WEST END NOTES.

Some interesting prizes and medals will be offered to the best declaimers and best scholars in West End academy. Exercises in declamations, and examinations will occur during the daytime, when the term closes in June; and at night a pleasing entertainment by the pupils will be given to raise a fund with which to provide the school with a good philosophical apparatus. the school with a good philosophical apparatus.

The entertainment for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday school was admirable, and reflects credit on the skill, taste and industry of its projectors, conspicuous among whom was Miss Mary B. Wood. The recitations by the three-year-old daughters of Messrs. Stewart, McGaughey and Venable were surprising. Miss Mary Ella Reed's elocution and Miss Carrie Matthews's music were excellent, and the performance of "Red Riding Hood," by the children, and the calisthenic exercises by pupils of the academy elicited the admiration of all present. Miss Cuckler's singing won repeated applause. Children's sailor suits in blue, grey and tan colors, Eiseman's, 55 Whitehall street.

$100 Genuine Diamonds Found in Tea and Coffee. The Overland Tea company of Cincinnati, have opened a branch store in this city at 18 Whitehall street, James' block. Their tea and coffee is put. up in paper cans; each can weighs, including contents, tea about 1½ pounds and a differ about three pounds. Each can reuntains in addition to the tea or coffee, a souvenir consisting in part of solid gold and silver and nickle watches, genuine monds in solid gold settings, jewelry, etc. This company has adopted this expensive method so as to thoroughly advertise their goods throughout Atlanta and vicinity. But after May 15th, these choice teas and coffees will be sold wholly on their merits by their agent in Atlanta, at the same price, same quality and same quantity, but with out the souvenirs the tea or coffee being worth at a fair retail value more than the price asked without any regard to the souvenirs which are put into the cans for a few days only to advertise and introduce the tea and coffee. This company is an old and well established one and has already appointed more than fifty agencies in the various cities, none of whom are now selling souvenirs with their goods, yet each agent has a large and rapidly growing trade, as the su-perior quality of their teas and coffees become known. If so they will find in our office many such letters as the following, but none that are entitled to more consideration: With my experience I pronounce the best lung remedy made. Four of my brother and sisters had died with consumption, and about three years ago I became so exhausted by a long continued cough, accompanied with low fever and night sweats, that I could barely get about and my friends gave up all hope. I coughed so incessantly that I could not sleep at all. After rying several lung medicines I began the use of

and was greatly benefited by the first bottle. gaining flesh and strength and resuming work, 1 continued to take it and am asstout now as I ever was, rarely ever cough nor do I suffer with my lungs ady more than if they never had been affected.

I am never without a bottle of it in my house During the winter I give it to my little children. even a little fellow three years old, for anything like common colds, or when they show any evidence of croup and always with the most satisfactory results. Very tuly,

CHOLERA.

ger of Human Lite

The report that the celebrated expert, Dr. Koe is about to proffer his services to France to deta mine the character of the present visitation cholers, is probably true. The feeling develop is that it is true Asiatic cholera, and that it is its travels, having reached Egypt last year, France and Russia this year. The civilized tions are all initiating precautionary measu and our own relations with Mediterranean pare quite intimate enough to impose upon some care, if nothing more. The certain ease which a filthy steerage can fetch cholera ac the Atlantic is known, and it ought not to be sible for us to be taken by surprise.

But quarantine is only one phase of our du Cholera is that scourge of all scourges which m kills the poor. It is a disease which rarely o to a palace—unless the palace is environed by he els. It visits the unclean streets and issues ou the unclean wells. Pure water and plenty of almost a specific for cholera. If every h yard, street, gutter, well. sink, and receptache every sort for every kind of dirt and fifth w cleaned, scoured and kept clean, cholera co Indeed come here, but it would amount to little. If, in addition, tainted meats and verbles could be expelled and perfectly exclu from the city, there would, probably, in the ev of a visitation, be no deaths, and the people wo not know whether it was cholera or not. We h had almost a century of experience with che since the commerce between the civilized nati and the cast first seduced it forth from its Gang habitat and presented it to modern medical ence for investigation; and if it is permitted touch our shores now we cannot plead ignoration blindly bewail the act of prudence.

Aside from the above precautions, we feel it duty ty advise our readers to ever keep on hand bottle of Dr. Bigger's Huckleberry Cordial, t great Southern Remedy that the emisent of doctor who, from scientific researches, is ena to state that he feels authorized in saying that will cure the disease, for as cholera is purely bowel trouble, the lumigating treatment cann be the right course; but there enters into his me icine a drug that will destroy the cholera gera
